Those Canny Dwellers in Eighty Acres

The street department has just finished putting "seal" (gravel and oil top) on Dolores Street from Ocean Avenue to Sixth. This seems to us a reckless thing to do. We advise citizens who must travel the other streets in Carmel to avoid this section on Dolores Street lest they become softened up so they can't take it when they must leave this luxury-flow strip on their adventures elsewhere in town.

The softening process is to be extended to Ocean Avenue, we understand. The two magnificent holes in front of Kip's that have contributed nobly to keeping us in condition are to be taken care of some time after Christmas, according to threats emanating from the street department.

There appears to be no plan to spread this devitalizing influence into the north part of town, however. There things are shaping up very satisfactorily.

The short line on Torres between Ocean and Mt. View has become impassable except to Torres and Mt. View Natives, who prefer that it remain that way so they can keep it for a private thoroughfare.

Eighth between Torres and Junipero has become a Terra Incognita except to residents of the area who have private maps charting a course between and around the mountains and canyons.

Outsiders, attempting to discover these secret routes by following a native on his progress through the wilds of this block have been consistently thwarted because the smoke screen of dust thrown up by the native's car cuts visibility to 0. Other streets in the area are falling into line, or just falling in, while the canny dwellers maintain a discreet silence. Within two months, they figure, the entire Eighty Acres will be inaccessible to everybody but the inhabitants—a reservation, a private preserve! —Wilma Cook.

School Board Will Call Public Meeting On New Bond Issue

The Carmel Unified School District Board decided at their meeting Tuesday night to place before the people of the community, at a public meeting, their recommendation to call a million dollar bond election for the following purposes:

To complete the Carmel Woods School;

To build the Carmel River School in the Mission Tract;

To build additional class rooms, a 1000 seat auditorium and music room building and a shop extension at the high school.

Date for the meeting will be announced later.

At the Tuesday night's meeting the board also approved the architect's plans for the Carmel River School:

This is the story of Private Johnston.

It is the saga of a female G-I Joe—a colonel's wife, Junior Leaguer, mother of a Staff Sergeant, and the hero of the Tap Room Rebellion of the Portland Port of Embarkation.

The local angle is that Private Johnston now is Mrs. Joseph Johnston of the Country Club, as chic and attractive ex-G-I as ever shouldered a mop for Uncle Sam. The Pine Cone cannot hope to equal the saga as it comes from Mrs. Johnston's lips, but will try to touch the highlights of an army career which easily could make a book.

The military life of Private Elizabeth Johnston—her rise from buck private in the WACs to the army's first woman Post Exchange Officer—begins on a gloomy day in 1943 when suddenly she realized that there was little left in her life but her ration book.

Colonel Joseph Johnston, a Counter Intelligence Corps officer, was off to the wars, as was her son, Joe Jr. Her cook of 14 years standing had just left for an aircraft plant, too. Reflecting that she had already given almost her all to the war effort, it seemed only futile not to go just a little bit farther.

Packing her toothbrush, Elizabeth Johnston was also off to the wars.

Her sacrifice was not without glory. Encased in a WAC's uniform at Ft. Oglethorpe, where she was shipped for basic training, Private Johnston immediately made newspaper headlines—along with Colonel Joe and Joe, Jr. Hail the Johnston family!—crowded the army propagandists—the first complete family in the service of their country!

Mama wondered what effect the publicity might have on their careers and future homelife. Father and son, however, proudly viewing mother from an objective distance thought it a jolly idea. They saw her marching behind the colors, occupying the desk of a soldier who now would be freed to go, and putting to good use the ingenuity which once led mother to invent a new type of shopping service eventually copied by Neiman Marcus and other great stores. Mother would look cute in uniform.

Uniform for Private Johnston, however, was mainly fatigue garb. As a colonel's wife she had never realized how basic basic training really was. As a buck private she no longer outranked a Colonel. She learned to salute and say "Yes sir!" and "Yes ma'am!" Slightly out of condition for mass spud peeling, floor mopping, latrine swamping, sentry duty and obstacle courses, Private Johnston doggedly pushed stray locks of hair from her eyes and set her jaw.

About the time she was getting good and tired of people referring to her life as glamorous, she got her first sympathy. Her saviours were a couple of army master sergeants who once had served with the Colonel. They were very fond of her and called her "mama". Enroute to Germany, they came 150 miles out of their way to see her.

Always they had been received in her home where she was well-dressed, punctilious hostess. They were ill prepared for the shock.

At the moment they dropped by to call, Private Johnston was totting two heavy buckets of coal to a stove on the top floor of her barracks. Her fatigues were sagging and dirty.

"Mama!" cried Master Sergeant Harper, tears coming to his eyes. "Oh, mama—they can't do this to you!" And he went racing away threatening that he'd get her off detail or tear down the place.

Mama, however, was in for

Town Glows Warmly As Community Tree Opens Xmas Shopping Season

Last night the big pine at Ocean and Junipero officially announced the opening of the Christmas season. Five o'clock brought darkness and darkness brought the lights, one, two, three, then chains of them, color upon color, as the tree warmed, glowed, then sparkled. The chain reaction started, shop window after window took up its cue, each adding its individual glitter to the spirit and the beauty.

Big Date For 1950 Calendar, Crosby Tournament, Jan. 13-15

Golfers, golfing-fans and green-side quarterbacks, mark January 13, 14 and 15 on those brand new 1950 calendars. On those dates the annual Crosby tournament tees off again for the $10,000 National Pro-Amateur golf championship, with Bing Crosby standing sponsor for all expenses.

Last year's gallery take, courtesy of Crosby via the Community Chest, helped finance Carmel Youth Center, gave Pacific Grove their Youth Center, and left $2,500 over for the Sea Scouts of Monterey.

This year's lineup looks promising again for the Chest's financial outlook. Sammy Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Jimmy Demaret and other top professionals tee off Friday, January 13 from the Cypress Point Club for the three day challenge. In all there will be 150 golfers in the field with the final matches played January 15 at Pebble Beach.

Prizes will be awarded in two divisions, straight pro scores totaling $7,000 and radios and other prizes for amateurs. The pro-amateur division is on a "best ball" basis.

Gallery fees are $2 Friday, $2.50 Saturday and $3.00 Sunday or a flat $5 for the whole event.

The Friday night lure, open shop, has given decorative ingenuity new impetus. The store windows are more exciting and lovely than ever before. Up and down the streets one sees candles fat and candles lean, candles beribboned in chunky silver bows and candles stark and business-austere. Christmas foods from conventional gingerbread mansion to baskets of rattlesnake meat, plum puddings pendant in tempting home made looking bags and plum puddings from England discreetly canned.

Most shops assert their own tree tastes, from stark driftwood with chaste color touches just here and there, through sharp painted tin and elongated foil tree caricatures to the conventional pine boughs with balls and angels, but all enjoy observing passer-by reaction to their efforts.

The Friday open evening, most shop owners agree, is amply paying off in receipts and reduced confusion. This year's shopper is more discriminating, but, once in action just a bit more lavish. Prices, comparatively speaking, are down, hearts are up and eyes are eagerly window scanning.

COMMUNITY SING

Traditional Christmas community sing will be held at the Carmel Woman's Club, 8:00 p.m., December 21, John Farr and the Male Chorus offering a program and leading the sing.

English Business Man On Visit Here Says Expectation Of Pound Devaluation Kept Them Going

"Only devaluation expectations kept us going," lively H. H. Striemer of London told The Pine Cone last Saturday, with an enthusiasm that betrayed the most optimistic expectations for the future. Striemer and his pretty, browned eyed wife, highlighted a successful business tour of this country with a few days at the Del Monte Lodge before winging off once more for England. The Striemers

$1,100 Is First Contribution To Beach Purchase

A Carmel old timer, who wishes her name to be withheld until more shall join the list, tossed $1,000 in the beach purchase fund kitty this week, the first contribution.

Her $1,000 immediately mushrooms to $5,000 through state and county matching funds machinery.

Also $100 has been contributed to defray expenses incidental to putting on the drive.

Four Lobos League members are composing a pamphlet this week end to be printed and distributed among those who might be interested in contributing to the fund.

own and operate a large blouse manufactory in the heart of London's business and residential district, Wigmore Street, with a new factory and extra-modern machinery, compliments of the government and the War Risk Insurance Plan.

"Luckily we were under 75 percent smashed up and could rebuild on our old site. Otherwise it's off to the suburbs or God knows where." But new site or old, the government still supplies a hundred percent rebuilding costs, an advantage to home owners and businessmen alike.

In spite of this and other benefits—the Striemers regard socialized medicine as one of them—they are pinning fond if shaky hopes on Labor's overthrow in the next election, to be held sometime between February and June. Churchill is England's only emergency man, Striemer summed up, and until England has him back

LIONS SENT GOLD FOOTBALLS TO CARMEL GRIDDERS

Dr. William Coughlin, Lions Club president, was the welcome guest at the awards assembly last Wednesday morning at the Carmel High School. Doctor Bill, always a friend of Carmel youth, presented each of the varsity football players with a miniature gold football emblematic of the championship season enjoyed by the Padres. This is the second time in three seasons that the Lions have honored the red and grey gridders and the hilltop presters are encouraged by the warm support afforded by the sports-minded Lions.

Temporary owners of the gold footballs (the girls have permanent possession) are: Jack Belangee, Pete Berg, Pierre Boutet, Syl Burger, Don Canham, Frank Cleary, Bill Daniels, Chuck Grimshaw, Tom Handley, Jim Hare, Charles May, Legare McNeill, Stu Emery, Thor Rasmussen, Henry Overin, Pete Petrus, Neils Reimers, Bob Updike, Dick Weer, Steve Whitaker, Chris Williams, and Managers Skipper Lloyd and Ash Cunningham.

PADRE CAGERS IN FIRST LEAGUE GAME TONIGHT

With the scrappy Gonzales Spartans as their opponents, the Carmel High School lightweight and varsity teams will get their first taste of league competition tonight. Gonzales has always been tough for the Padres and the valley school is loaded with first class talent this year. The Spartan lightweight team of last season is moving up to the varsity intact and enthusiasm is running high at the orange and black campus. Carmel will rely on their small experienced five of Laugenour, Vandervort, Hare, Whitaker, and Weer to counter the speed of the Gonzales quintet. Lack of height will be a severe handicap to the red and grey squad but their team play should carry them over the altitude obstacle.

Coach Dawson will send his lightweights after their first league victory at 7 o'clock tonight. The lightweight fracas should be a hotly contested battle with the little Spartans in the favorite role. Gonzales had a pair of classy C and D teams which shellacked the Padres during the past season and they are confident that they can repeat as lightweights. Stu Emery, Bob Laugenour, Bob Updike, Myron Branson, and Ronald Stoney.

FIVE PADRE FOOTBALLERS HONORED ON CCAL SQUAD

A poll of the coaches in the CCAL B division showed that five Carmel gridders rated tops for the 1949 season. Steve Whitaker won top acclaim as the outstanding center in the league while Dick Weer topped one of the end spots. Dick is a repeater at the wing position, being selected on the 1947 mythical squad. Carmel's captains, Jim Hare and Tom Handley, were unanimous choices for the backfield. College coaches have tabbed these two gridders as top prospects in their quest for higher education. Hare is recognized as the finest T quarterback in Northern California prep circles, while Handley is a climax runner who can break up ball games at any time. This makes the third year that Handley has been selected on the CCAL squad, while Belangee, Hare, and Weer have been honored for two years. Whitaker, a quarterback until this season, developed into the outstanding pivot man in the section and his intelligent direction of the defense kept rival offenses pretty well shackled. Steve was also selected as the outstanding team player on the Padre squad and will receive the Silva award for his outstanding team performance.

CARMEL IN EVEN BREAK WITH HOLY CROSS HOOSTERS

The Carmel High School lightweights found the going a little rough against the fine Holy Cross lighties last Friday night, but the red and grey varsity hardly drew a deep breath in notching their second victory of the season. The Padrecitos were in front, 15 to 12, in the third quarter but folded in the final heat to finish on the short end of a 26-22 count. Bob Laugenour, Myron Branson, and Bob Updike were the only Carmel lads able to cut the mesh with any degree of success. Laugenour collected 8 points for his evening's work, while Updike and Branson notched 6 apiece.

Carmel varsity merely went through the motions of simulating a basketball team as they vanquished the Santa Cruz aggregation, 34 to 12. Good shooting by Gene Vandervort and Steve Whitaker kept the Padres in front from the opening whistle and they had game control throughout the contest. Vandervort wound up as the high scorer, with 11 points, while Whitaker found the range for 9 markers.

Ruth Warshawsky To Take Lead In The Little Foxes

The coveted role of Regina in the Forest Theater Guild's projected production of the Little Foxes was assigned to Ruth Warshawsky after last Tuesday's try-outs. Competition was heavy for all roles in this highly dramatic play, with approximately 40 persons reading for the various parts. The part of Regina, one of contemporary theater's least likeable shrews was eagerly and capably contested by eight local actresses and, Forrest Barnes tells us, until the last moment competition was good natured but tense. The final casting is now complete with Carol McEwen as Birdie, Charles Killian as Oscar, Ruth Warshawsky, Regina, Forrest Barnes as Bud, Cole Weston as Horace, Mary Eleanor Horne, Alexandra, Frank Smith as Cal, Phil Oberg as Marshall, Bill Clark as Leo and Patty Trevett as Addie.

No director as yet has been assigned, but the theater Board will meet for this decision on Sunday. Rehearsals will start almost immediately after the Christmas rush is over and production is scheduled for the two final week ends in January.

Mrs. M. Despard

Mrs. Margaret Despard, for eleven years housekeeper at the Carmel Mission, died very suddenly on the morning of December 9. Seized by a sudden heart attack, just as she was preparing to enjoy a morning cup of coffee with Father O'Donnell, she died almost immediately. She is mourned by her two sisters, Mrs. T. V. Reardon, with whom she shared their house on Monte Verde, and Mrs. William McCormick, also of Carmel. She leaves a brother Andrew J. Furrey, of Hartford, Connecticut. Mrs. Despard, 57, was born in Freeland, Pennsylvania, and came to Carmel from Hartford after the death of her husband.

Father O'Donnell says of Mrs. Despard, "The Mission and all its people and animals were her constant care through all these years. Her passing leaves us with a deep sense of loss."

A High Requiem Mass was said for her at the Mission last Monday, and the burial will take place in Hartford, Connecticut. Funeral services were arranged by the Mission Mortuary.

VOLUNTEER FIREMAN CONTROLS BLAZE

While driving along the San Luis Road last Sunday George Westcott saw smoke. To Mr. Westcott, Volunteer Carmel fireman, smoke means fire and fire means a job. A small garage apartment was starting a fine blaze as Mr. Westcott found a garden hose, put it into action, and notified the State Fire crew, in whose district it was. He managed to keep things pretty well under control till they arrived but it took the State Crew almost an hour to extinguish the fire. About $500 worth of damages is reported.

Harper Announces Carmel-Monterey Bus Schedule Changes

A new schedule affecting Carmel-Monterey bus service during evening hours has been announced by J. Harper, manager of Bay Rapid Transit Co., as a means of giving residents better service.

"There is no change in present Carmel schedules except after 8:00 p.m.," Harper emphasized, "and buses will make direct connections to the Southern Pacific Station at Los Angeles and from San Francisco."

Buses will leave Monterey for Carmel on the hour daily, beginning at 8:00 p.m. December 18, until the last bus, which leaves Monterey at 11:43 p.m. Buses will leave Carmel for Monterey at a quarter after every hour beginning at 8:15 p.m., until last the bus, which leaves Carmel at 11:55 p.m.

Public Invited To Serra School's Xmas Pageant

In Carmel Mission Sunday, December 19, at 6:30 p.m., the Junipero Serra school presents its Christmas pageant.

This year's production follows a picture conceived and presented by St. Francis of Assisi in the thirteenth century. It was St. Francis who first visualized the Christ Child as a baby in a manger-crib, and dramatized it simply on his church steps, with local peasantry onlookers participating.

The Mission School has woven its pageant around this conception, with Noel Sullivan acting as narrator while the children enact the pantomime. Mr. Sullivan is using a compilation of scriptural and medieval texts to explain the action as it is unfolded by the children. The only other speaking part will be the Herald Angel, played by Margaret Nieto, who also reads excerpts from the scripture.

Carols, illustrative of the mimed events, will be sung by the school choral.

Leading parts are taken by Sandra Cradd, who will play Mary, with Francis Schutz as Joseph. Oliver Wilgress is St. Francis of Assisi, Margaret Nieto the Herald Angel, Marie Ellen Marshall the Peace Angel, and the three kings will be Leon Panetta, David Roman and Tony Brosnan.

The play has been planned and directed by the Sisters who gratefully acknowledge all the help they have received with costumes and sets from the Junipero Serra Mothers Club.

The performance is scheduled to last about three quarters of an hour and will be open to the public, free of charge.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Phone Carmel 1.

Religion Before Gifts Is Right Christmas Spirit Says Bill Stovall

Bill Stovall is 20. He works for Walt's at night and for Jehovah's Witnesses by day. He attends their Ministry School in Kingdom Hall, Oliver Street, Monterey, three days a week, preaches their Gospel and distributes their literature seven days a week and manages sleep and a good deal of thinking, both religious and secular, in between.

"I believe that too many parents forget the real meaning of Christmas. They give their children presents and forget to tell them about the birth of Christ. The emphasis is on gifts and good times instead of religion. That is wrong," Bill told the Pine Cone.

In the Ministry School with Bill are some 30 fellow students whose ages range from three years old to 80 and all, according to their capacities, bent on the same research: an attempt to bring clarity into religious thinking. Their text book is the Bible and their assignment, a deeper understanding of its tenets.

Young Bill, well known to permanent Carmel residents, has lived here about 11 years. He went to Sunset and, for a while, to Carmel High which he left after the 10th grade for a series of jobs in and around the community. The Misses Irma and Estelle Simons, who lived near Bill in his first Carmel home, have always taken a particular interest in the boy, tutoring him in his school work when he needed it and helping him adjust dreams to reality. "I've always been a dreamer," Bill admits. "I liked making things up better than learning". His "making up" includes song writing, cartooning and working on inventions.

Unlike many youngsters of his age Bill is rather definite about his future. He wants to teach, to teach what he has learned already at the school of ministry in Monterey and all he hopes to learn in the future. Other pursuits must remain primarily subservient to that objective, though he has personal plans for incidental accomplishment.

Graduating from OCS, 2nd Looie Johnston was ordered to the Portland Port of Embarkation as assistant post exchange officer. Here she saw her first action, and became a hero.

bottle-throwing riot in the Tap Room. The Officer of the Day was summoned but was disinclined to risk his neck to stop the melee. Thereupon, 2nd Lieutenant Johnston, who previously had made friends with many of the participants, stepped in.

"Cut that out!" she ordered, pointing her finger in the general direction of the turmoil. "Shame on you!" The riot abruptly quieted down.

Then mama got her silver bars. About that time she also was transferred to Indiana as State Enlistment Officer. Colonel Joe happened to be assigned to the same district as Intelligence Officer—and sometimes their travels overlapped.

As a G-I, it had been necessary for Private Johnston to request written permission from her Commanding Officer to be seen in public with her own husband. Her dread fear of female Military Police, who constantly pounced upon her to view her permission to be in the company of a commissioned officer, never completely left her as an officer. Neither did the eyes of the room clerks.

Then August of 1947 it was all over. No more coal buckets, spuds, sign-outs, or female MP's—just Carmel-by-the-Sea and her family. Mama put her captain's bars away.

Since then the Johnstons have lead the lives of private citizens—almost. Colonel Joe is president of the Reserve Officers' Association of this area, and recently was awarded his 30 year continuous service medal by the American Legion. Ex-Staff Sergeant Joe, Jr., has been in Paris for the past two years as a G-I student at the Soubourne. Recently he took to himself a French wife whom the Johnstons have not yet seen. Former Private Johnston has turned her back on the army for gardening and non-military activities. A Charter member of the Akron, Ohio, Junior League she is interested in organizing a chapter here. Not quite as exciting as stopping a riot—but in the long run, more mama's speed.

The conservatory in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park was erected in 1877, damaged by fire in 1882, and restored to its present condition in 1893.

Now Hospitals Are "Banks," Too!

Doc Simpson was saying, "Hospitals are building up 'bone banks' that work just like blood banks. When bone is needed, the surgeon takes one from a refrigerator, cuts it to the right shape and simply splices it in."

"You doctors are sure making progress," I says, "but tell me, are any of the patients fussy about whose bone they're getting?"

"No sir!" replies Doc. "No more than they worry about whose blood they get. No one yet asked for a bone from a man who went to the same school or church he did."

From where I sit, it would be a better world if we were half as willing to accept other people's ideas and tastes, as we seem to be willing to accept their bone and blood. There'll always be differences. Some like buttermilk, others would rather have a sparkling glass of temperate beer. But underneath we're pretty much the same—deserving each other's respect and tolerance!

The Time Has Come . .

By Kippy Stuart

A very old lady who lived on Cape Cod had achieved the impossible. In her window, the pride of her life, bloomed pots of geraniums. These geraniums bloomed incessantly, large, healthy clusters. She was asked how this miracle was achieved. The old lady replied. "Simple. I wasn't feeling so good, so I went to the Doctor. He gave me a bottle of pills. As soon as I began to take the pills I felt fine, so I decided if the pills were good for me, they would be good for the geraniums. So, every time I took a pill, I shoved one in each pot. Can't think what was in them, but the plants seemed to like them all right."

And, aren't we all like that? I've tried some of the darndest experiments that turned out unexpected results. I am thinking of reversing the old lady's stunt; by doctoring myself with pills that are recommended for the garden. It is remarkable what can be achieved with garden chemicals, such as gaviota, milorganite and vigoro. These new discoveries bring immediate help, putting gardening on a scientific basis, with sure-fire results.

House plants, such as dish-gardens, philodendron, gloxinia, should be fed at least once every three weeks. There are all sorts of preparations for this purpose. The two best known are Plantchem and Spoonit. You can buy them anywhere in garden supply shops. The best way to handle these in-door fertilizers, is to follow directions, and make up a gallon ~~in water~~ Regular watering with these chemicals will make your in-door plants healthy and spunky.

Nobody knows how plant vermin gets into the house, but it does. Red spider, aphids and even scale will pounce on potted things and destroy them in a short time. The first indication of harmful insects, is a yellowing of leaves, droopy stems, and a general sickly appearance. Most folk think the plant is asking for water, but far from it; the plant is asking for spray, or a good sponging with

Mylar Looks To The Pines For Insurance

In case you are wondering about the pine branches piled over the fuchsia and geranium hedges in Devendorf Plaza . .

Nobody can tell anything for sure about the weather, but Leslie Mylar, who watches over the welfare of Devendorf Plaza, the parkway down the center of Ocean Avenue, and the library garden, isn't taking any chances.

There was a frost Sunday night, also Monday morning, not much of a freeze as such things go but enough to nip some of the more delicate plants in the unprotected areas of town. Mylar doesn't know whether there will be better and bigger frosts or if it will turn off a warm rain, but it doesn't hurt to be prepared for the worst. Hence the pine bough frost insurance for the fuchsias and geraniums.

soap and water. Never put oil or milk on philodendron leaves for either will close the pores of the plant and sure death is the result.

The eternal question this time of year, is "what shall I give them for Christmas!" The answer, in many cases, is give a small tree, or a shrub; a blooming plant that can be transferred later to the garden. The living Christmas tree is such a wonderful idea. Aside from the sentiment, that the tree will go on living, the rooted, tubed Christmas tree is a fire preventative; quite an item to consider.

The question before the house now, is; shall I give my in-door fern one of my pills, or shall I take one of the fern's pills? I'll let you know results either way.

GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Beatrice Rea's Sixth Grade CHRISTMAS CANDLE
Candle, candle, burning bright,
In our window sill tonight,
Lead some weary traveler here,
So he may share our Christmas cheer.

Candle, candle, oh so still,
Standing in our window sill,
You're so like the Christmas star
Guiding shepherds from afar.
—Barbara Mitchell.

CHRISTMAS IS WONDERFUL
Christmas is wonderful.
Then you hear the bells chime
Up in the tower above the sea.
Everyone's busy as a bee,
Putting wreaths upon the door,
Hanging stockings the night before.
Children waiting for Santa to come To fill their stockings with candy and gum.
Now you can hear the reindeers'
pit-pat
Over the roof top to where it's flat.
Softly the carolers come down the street,
With candy and presents and good things to eat.
—Robin Burnham.

MY CHRISTMAS TREE
I'll find me a spruce
In the clear, crisp woods
With low, sweet boughs
And a silvery hood,
I'll make a batch
Of pop-corn balls
To hang on my spruce
When the great Eve falls.
—Dick Holt.

CHRISTMAS
Bells are ringing,
Christmas cheer bringing.
Festivals, singing!
Thanksgivings lingering.

Santa is coming
Snow to him clinging
The bells on the reindeer
Merrily ringing.

Christmas is here
Ringing with cheer
Time to celebrate
This day we dedicate.
—Halford Greenlee.

CHRISTMAS STAR
Christmas star always bright,
Shining down on me tonight,
If you could only talk to me
What would you tell me about that night?

Would you tell how the angel looked
And just how the shepherds shook?

Please tell about the three wise men who traveled so far Following thy light
Oh, bright star!

Tell me about Christ, the King.
Oh, star, tell me everything.
—Cynthia Cox.

BEAUTIFUL STAR
Oh, beautiful star up in the sky, Exactly like the one that lead the shepherds to our Lord, Oh, if only you could leave us another gift like that!
—Sherian Emery.

When Christmas comes
There is a tree,
So high, so still,
That looks at me.
—Vicki Davies.

CHRISTMAS CHEER
Christmas cheer comes at this time of year; with mothers bustling in the kitchen, preparing the Christmas meal. Then, after the hustle and bustle of the day, the eve with the whiteness of the snow, and, with it, carolers singing joyfully of the birth of Christ.
—Suzanne Montmorency.

OUR CHRISTMAS DAY
The play began with the chair proceeding down the aisle singing,
"O, Come All Ye Faithful". Then King Herod and his Counsellors came into the court. They talked about the New King and Herod was very worried.

As Herod and his Counsellors prophesied, the life of Jesus Christ was enacted on a little stage behind them. The choir, in the meantime, was singing the Christmas carols.
—Karen Johnson.

OUR PLAY

The Sunset School Christmas play began when Mr. Holman's choir walked down the aisle singing carols. When the curtains opened, there were the great pillars of Herod's court. When Herod and his counsellors entered, they were worried about the new born King of the Jews. The play went on, the curtains at the back parted to show Jesus and Mary in many scenes.

Mr. Catagnetto directed the play. Mr. Holman had charge of the chair and Mr. Calley the stage sets.
—Mark Hildebrand.

THINKING HIGH

Mrs. Rea's sixth grade presented a program at the November Student Body meeting, entitled,

"Thinking High".

The first scene took place in the club room of the Ski Hi Club. John Thompson, the professor, was introduced to the members of the club by President Rickie Morse.

Professor Thompson told the members of the club about the different changes that had been made in the last fifty years. He then told them that Hal and his crew would take them on a fanciful flight which was called "Moving to Mars."

In this imaginary scene Dr.
Greenlee knew the earth would be wiped out in about seven years.
He planned for the evacuation of the earth in rocket ships.

Mark Hildebrand and a few others gave reports on slides made by three of the boys. They were about the history of aviation.

Then Reed Putnam reported on the different spheres. He also told about the laws of aero-dynamics.

Three girls then gave reports on airplanes running errands of mercy.

Later songs and dances were presented by the class. The songs were Army Air Corps Song and Peddler's Pack. These were followed by a dance to the same music which was called Korobushka. Then the class did a dance called Ede Ratas which was about a spinning wheel.

President Rickie Morse gave special thanks to Mr. Holman. He then wished everyone a happy holiday.

THE HOBBY SHOW

During a class meeting in October, we brought up the subject of a hobby show. Immediately the whole class liked the idea. We discussed it at several meetings and then it was decided to have the show.

The first thing we did was to make a wall chart with the name of each student and a picture showing his hobby. The next step was to put up shelves and to make arrangements for the display of all the articles. The hobbies were then brought to school and gradually after a period of three weeks everything was completed. Accompanying each display was the student's name and neatly written paper explaining how the interest started and how it had grown.

To add to the interest we subscribed to "Hobbies", a monthly magazine that has interesting stories about peoples' hobbies, where articles can be bought and sold, and stories about things that people collect.

The display remained up for two weeks and during that time several classes visited our room. Many children came in, too, during recesses. Our parents had a chance to see them when they came to school for a parents' meeting on the evening of November 17.

Five boys brought models. Paul Fratessa and Don Rowe had planes, Deanne Phillips had cars, Gene Mullnix, trains; and Michael Gilbert had some very nice ships. The planes were hung on copper wire which was strung across the room.

Julie Work and Phyllis Burnette are collecting shells. Phyllis pasted her shells on a large cardboard, and Julie displayed hers on a shelf.

Connie Nielsen, Priscilla Clark, and Judyann Billings had playing cards which were shown on large pieces of cardboard.

Tommy Petty is interested in photography. He had cameras and snapshots.

Patricia Doolittle's hobby is collecting View Master Films. She has 142 films she keeps in plastic boxes.

Kristine Nelsen likes horses, Jimmy Hallett likes dogs, and Shirley DeAmaral is interested in both. They displayed pictures and figurines of horses and dogs.

Peter Brickey's hobby is chemistry. He had a regular chemistry set, so he showed his hobby in that.

Craig Chapman has a nice collection of swords. They are very interesting.

Jon Chase and Pat Grimshaw are swimming fans. They showed pictures they had made.

Tehani Cheatam likes birds. She collects articles from the National Geographic and puts them together in a binder. She also had several very good bird books.

Diana Davison has many story-book dolls. She arranged them on a shelf. They looked pretty there.

Lucy Elstob has a nice collection of glass, clay, and metal figurines.

Toby Sampson's hobby is stamps. He had a small collection because he is just starting it.

Willy Funke collects miniatures of household furniture. She displayed hers in a box without a top. It looked like a room. Susan Harney's interest is perfume bottles. She has two round clear glass bottles with matching crescent tops. She also has a Gingerbread Man bottle. She has large, small, hand-painted, well — just about every kind, and are all very pretty.

Andy McBride has collected over a thousand match covers. They are all shapes and sizes. He displayed them on a large wall chart.

Sarah McCloud's hobby is post-cards. She has so many that she had to have a double display.

Patty Ricketts' interest is textiles. She displayed many different kinds of cloth. She showed some of her stencilling.

Judy Wallace's hobby is beads. She brought her set and showed some work that she is doing.

Denice Westcott is very fond of cats. Her display consisting of figurines and pictures of cats.

Mike Stanton's hobby is hunting. He put his equipment on a table. He had different kinds of shells, and some clay pigeons. He cut open a shell to display its contents.

Ted Ledbetter is interested in cartooning. He displayed his cartoons and they were mostly ducks. They were very good.

All the hobbies were interesting and fun to look at. We wish more people could have seen them.

Craig Chapman,
Sarah McCloud.

A NEW USE FOR DARK-ROOM
CURTAINS

The room was filled with darkness. Mrs. Jordan lit a candle. There was a flicker of light and then she started to read. The "Ghost of Christmas Past" was about to enter.

Much later when the candle was blown out and the lights turned on, the curtains were opened. Mrs. Jordan put down the book she had been reading. She had just finished Stave Two of Charles Dickens' great story, "The Christmas Carol". This is how we found a new use for our new dark-room curtains. It is much more interesting to hear ghostly stories in a dark room. It makes it much more spooky.
—Peter Brickey.

It doesn't seem possible that Christmas is only one week away, especially to those who are still "thinking" about doing their shopping. It is later than you think, so why not buy magnificent trifles from HARRIET DUNCAN'S festive shop? You don't need to know the size of the woman in mind to select cozy angora, Norwegian and cable knit gloves, as well as hand woven scarfs in plain and plaid colors. HARRIET DUNCAN also has a luscious selection of colorful cashmere sweaters and decorative leather belts with heavy brass ornaments. These and many more magnificent trifles can be had at HARRIET DUNCAN'S in Carmel for prices that are also trifles.

Deck the halls with boughs of holly, etc., etc. FLOR DE MONTEREY will aid you in this fine preparation for Christmas. They have wreaths of holly and Douglas fir, as well as garlands of greens, to grace your home indoors and out. Christmas is never complete without a poinsettia plant—FLOR DE MONTEREY has them ranging in all sizes and prices. They have something new to decorate the home along with Christmas greens and flowers—plasta-foam figures. Santa Claus heads or full figures, bright snowmen in wintry settings, giant red and white candy canes and snow trees—all in an assortment of sizes. They couldn't be more Christmasy—or gayer. Use them as table center-pieces, fireplace and piano decorations or wherever a spot needs brightening. FLOR DE MONTEREY is located across from the San Carlos Hotel on Franklin, or phone 7885. For you Christmas customers living in Carmel there is free delivery.

SARGANT'S HEALTH and SPECIALTY FOODS STORE carries a selection of glace fruits, currants and nut meats for your Christmas baking needs, all in bulk, reasonably priced.

For that gift you can't decide on, stop in at SARGANT'S and select a gift-packed cake, a fruit and nut pack, or just a plain fruit pack. These will be gift wrapped and wrapped for mailing for you.

At SARGANT'S you'll find a Slice-a-Slice, the perfect gift for a perfect hostess who likes to serve extra thin sandwiches; also plastic bread bags and sets of plastic food-saver bags.

Remember, SARGANT'S gift wrap and wrap for mailing. They are located in the May Court at 6th and Mission in Carmel.

Another "First" for Monterey is the most complete line of leather goods between San Francisco and Los Angeles—gathered from all corners of the U.S.A., at the LEATHER SHOP in Monterey. Mr. Fellhauer, who teaches classes in leather-craft, will custom-make wallets, purses, belts, anything you want, even dog shoes. His services include gold stamping on any purchase, no matter where bought, and for free if it's from the LEATHER SHOP. There are over 100 small gifts to choose from, including the complete assortment of leather and sterling gifts: luggage, brief cases, sterling buckles, concha belts, hand made pocket secretaries and passport cases. The thing to remember is the originality and uniqueness of the gifts from the LEATHER SHOP. There is no charge for gift wrapping.

We all swear by nylon lingerie and stockings. Now we can include blouses. At the COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP on Alvarado St. in Monterey these career girl dreams can be had. All you do is squeeze the blouses gently in warm water and a mild soap, rinse thoroughly, and put on a coat hanger to dry. They dry within 20-30 minutes, — smooth and uncrinkled. If you wish to, iron the blouse ever so gently. Just think of all the time and labor usually involved that will be saved. This wonderful modern age! THE COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP has two styles of nylon blouses, both with Peter Pan collars and short sleeves. One has a shirred front ($9.95), while the other has tucks ($8.95). The colors are equally as practical in navy, cloud pink, spring yellow and snowflake white. We and THE COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP agree that these nylon blouses make new and exciting Christmas gifts.

Baby, it's cold outside! But not if you're snuggled up in a 100% Wool O' The West blanket from BALZER'S. These luscious blankets are guaranteed to be moth-proof, lightweight virgin wool—in all the favorite slumber colors ($12.95-$14.95-$16.95). BALZER'S also has robes from the Portland Mills with the same 5 year guarantee—terrific plaids ($3.95-$8.95).

Inspired by the color of Mexican serapes are the siesta blankets, which are larger than a robe and of finer weave ($9.95). For the rough and tumble boy in your family BALZER'S has bunk blankets ($9.95) in black and red, white or green check, ideal for home or to take away to school.

Once upon a time

to keep a tree bright cost a dollar a night

Outdoor light strings and spare bulbs are in good supply this year. If you plan to buy Bubble Lights—it would be wise to shop for them early. For soft pastel light try the new Fluorescent indoor tree lamps.

Not so many years ago, candlelight to match today's brightness of Christmas trees ablaze with electric lights would have been a costly luxury . . . and not a safe decoration. Modern colored electric lamps, twinkle and bubble bright and gay, for only a few pennies a night for electricity. Christmas lighting, indoor and out, is one of the many year-around electric bargains in the home.

Me and the Universe

Letters to his family from a Carmel lad, twenty or thereabouts, studying art and getting into predicaments in Paris.

By Ric Masten
October 20, 1919

This painting I'm doing is shaping up pretty well. In fact it might turn out all right. I'm doing it in the Tuileries gardens, couple of kids, windy trees, and leaves. So I'll write a little something about the Tuileries. The gray skies have pushed the blue away and wind now rushes through the autumn colors. Children run and stamp, yelling with their shrill voices echoing in a shriller wind. Little girls with toying hair and waving skirts stand and watch small boys sail their boats. The hard earth is warming up with a coat of ochre to wear against the coming snows. Soon it will be quiet. But now is the calling time, now are the farewells to color heard in lound and moving voices for it's autumn and the globe is turning. What I'm trying to say is it's fall over here and the colors are out of this world. Also it is cold and I'm wearing that big coat I used to wear in my model "A".

October 21, 1949

Guess what happened last night. I went to the Ballet. I don't know if I told you about my art store madame friend. She's a middle aged woman who has this store near Elizabeth's. I've been buying all my supplies from her. She speaks English and really has been wonderful to me. Well, anyway last night she invited me up to the shop to meet a cousin of hers. So I went and we all sat around talking. All of a sudden they said that they were going to the Ballet and would I like to go. I kind of looked at my dirty cords and shook my head. They said nonsense you go change and meet us there in an hour. Well, I departed thinking, "My gosh, how the heck did this happen, going to the Ballet!" Oh well, anything for the sake of knowledge. So I ran to Elizabeth's. I keep some of my clothes there. She and David had gone out to a cocktail party so I dashed up to my room. No good clothes!! But there glaring at me from the dark of the closet was my tux!! I said no, never a tux, having worn it only once. But then I thought what else can I wear? So I got the thing out and put it on. I roared out of the house saying goodbye to the baby and the sitter. Very proficient too, "all revoir!" What an accent! Then all of a sudden I realized I had to ride the "metro" in my tux. "Oh well, I thought, we only live once." I got in and stood like a little stick with everyone giving me the once over. People kept staring and staring. Usually they look at you, then look away after awhile, thinking you are crazy or something. I looked down to see if I had put my pants on backwards and Ohhh My Gosh! Peeping out from under my midnight blue tux were two very dirty white saddle shoes! The next stop was where I got off, and I was going to miss madame unless I got there on time. I screwed up my nerve, pulled down my pants, got up on tippy toe, and smilingly floated out of the car. When I got to the theatre I stood in the shadows looking for madame and feeling like Humphery Bogart with saddle shoes. No madame! I waited longer, still no madame. Whats more no one was wearing a tux, especialy one equipped with saddle shoes. Finally the lights started blinking like mad and I sort of dashed from pillar to pillar when the light would blink off. At last I got my ticket and was in a crowd. I carefully kept away from the short people. Just the same, I know everybody was looking at me and laughing up their short coat cuffs. My seat was way, way up in the balcony where the working class sit in their working togs. And as the light dimmed I thought to myself "What on God's green earth am I doing, sitting here in a midnight blue tuxedo with dirty saddle shoes among the working class people waiting for a Ballet to begin!!!!" Well, the thing began. I guess I'm just not the ballet loving type, especially in the shoes I was wearing. It seemed clumsy to me. Everybody sailing around with a queer look on their face, and I mean "queer". The girls who were the stars I gave one point but everything else thumbs down. I wound up closing my eyes and listening to the music, which was swell. I can just see the sparks fly when Mom reads this. It was after twelve o'clock when it was over, and as I was walking down the steps a bootblack smiled up at my face, then looked at my shoes, then fell off his stool!!

How America's first service station was born

One day back in 1907, a Standard of California man stood watching a line of impatient motorists in goggles and linen dusters waiting to buy five-gallon cans of gasoline at Standard's Seattle plant. He had an idea for serving customers more efficiently, more conveniently.

The next day a thirty-gallon tank which had been a kitchen water heater was installed opposite the main gate at the plant. To it were attached a valve-controlled hose and a glass gauge... so gas could be poured directly into the customers' cars.

That makeshift arrangement was the first service station in America.

Today there are more than 10,000 Company and Independent Dealer stations selling Standard of California products. The services and conveniences they offer... the improved products they sell... would probably make them hard to recognize by the men who developed the first station. For the people of Standard today, as then, continue to seek ways to make better products—and to serve better the people who use them.

RESOLUTION NO. 309

A RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR THE PUBLICATION OF PETITION FOR ANNEXATION OF CONTIGUOUS TERRITORIES TO CARMEL SANITARY DISTRICT AND NOTICE OF TIME OF HEARING AS PROVIDED BY THE SANITARY DISTRICT ACT OF 1923 AS AMENDED (SECS. 6830 AND SECS. 6870-6881 INCLUSIVE, HEALTH AND SAFETY CODE)

WHEREAS, a verified petition signed by the owners of real property in territories as provided in Section 6830—Health and Safety Code, which real property represents at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the total assessed valuation of said territories as shown by the last equalized assessment book of the county in which said Sanitary District is situated; designating specifically the boundaries of such territories and the assessed valuation thereof as shown by said last equalized assessment book, and showing the amount of real property owned by each of said petitioners and the assessed valuation thereof as shown by the last equalized assessment book of the county in which said real property is situated and stating that such territories are not within the limits of any other sanitary district, and asking that such territories be annexed to such Sanitary District, have, at a regular meeting of the Sanitary Board, been presented to the said Board, and

WHEREAS, the Carmel Pine Cone Cymbal of Carmel, California is a newspaper of general circulation published in this Sanitary District, and

WHEREAS, publication of a notice is required stating the time when said petition will be presented to said Sanitary Board and that all persons interested therein may appear and be heard and publication of this notice and of the verified petition at least two weeks preceding the hearing is required by the Sanitary District Act of 1923 as Amended (SECS. 6875 AND 6876, inclusive, Health and Safety Code);

BE IT RESOLVED that the hearing be set for the 27th day of December, 1949, at the hour of 7:30 P.M. at the regular meeting place of the Carmel Sanitary Board, and that the petition and notice be advertised in the Carmel Pine Cone Cymbal, of Carmel California.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly introduced and adopted at a regular meeting of the Sanitary Board of the Carmel Sanitary District, held therein on the 5th day of December, 1949, at the office of said Sanitary Board by the following vote:

ORDINANCE NO. 104 N. S.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 568, ARTICLE 7, DIVISION 1, PART IV OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, RELATING TO THE RESTRICTED USE OF CERTAIN STREETS.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. Section 568, Article 7, Division 1, Part IV of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 568. TRUCK ROUTES. (a) Such streets and parts of streets as may hereafter be designated by any ordinance or resolution of this City are hereby declared to be "TRUCK TRAFFIC ROUTES," the use of which is permitted by any commercial vehicle or by any vehicle exceeding a maximum gross weight limit of three tons. The Superintendent of Streets is hereby authorized to designate such streets or street by appropriate signs as "TRUCK TRAFFIC ROUTES" for the movement of commercial vehicles exceeding a maximum gross weight limit of three tons.

(b) When any such Truck Traffic Route or routes are established and designated by appropriate signs the operator of any commercial vehicle or any vehicle exceeding a maximum gross weight limit of three tons shall drive only on such route or routes excepting only when necessary to traverse another street or streets to a destination for the purpose of loading or unloading, but only by such deviation from the nearest truck route as is reasonably necessary. The provisions of this Section shall not apply to passenger busses under the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission.

(c) ONE WAY STREETS. Such streets and parts of streets as may hereafter be designated by any ordinance or resolution of this City are hereby declared to be "ONE WAY STREETS" and when suitable signs shall have been erected at all entrances to such streets and parts of streets so designated all vehicular traffic on such streets and parts of streets shall travel only in the direction indicated by such signs.

Section 2. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance be and they are hereby repealed.

Section 3. That the City Clerk of said City is hereby instructed to cause this ordinance to be published once in the CARMEL PINE CONE, the official newspaper of said City, within fifteen (15) days after its final passage and approval.

CERTIFICATION OF THE CITY CLERK

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 104 N. S., which was given its first reading at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea held on the 9th day of November, 1949, and finally adopted at a regular meeting of the said Council on the 7th day of December, 1949.

I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

English Artist Brings Fresh Eye To American West In New Gallery Show; Gift Price Exhibition Now Hanging

BY E. C. SHERBURNE

Completing its holiday exhibitions to run throughout December, the Carmel Art Association has added to this month's juried show a display of small oils and water colors in the Beardsley room, offered at gift prices, together with a special showing of water colors painted in Arizona by Edmund Dempsey.

Mr. Dempsey, an English artist who has painted in Australia and New Zealand in the course of his travels, brought a fresh eye to the American west, discovering pictorial material where those long familiar with the scene might not have found subjects. He was struck by the vital part played in the lives of the dwellers in desert areas. Result, Water Tower and Shanty, which reveals the beauty of a vista that would seem at first glance to be unpromising. Late Afternoon near Tucson captures the drama of fast-changing coloring of the approaching dusk.

Passing Storm, San Xavier, is a tumult of cloud masses piling through a valley under a darkened sky that casts a veil of mystery over the mountains. For epilogue to this, Desert Clouds after Storm has great serene masses of "sky galleons" hovering over the peaks. 'A' Mountain near Tucson conveys a mood of peaceful afterglow. These pictures are typical of Mr. Dempsey's delicate yet forceful impressions, as further exemplified in Desert Ranch Home, Purple Shadows—Road to Sells, Green Spring in the Desert, One Hour to Sundown, and others.

Small pictures by individual members include Cypress Point, by Arthur Hill Gilbert, with its decorative use of dunes and greenery under a cloud-filled sky; a sparkling marine by Frank H. Myers; a valley scene by Hoyland Bettinger that depicts tawny hills under cloud clusters; another of Abel Warshawsky's piquant souvenirs of street activities in Paris 20 years ago; Howard Smith's Road Scene, with its golden hills and purple shadows; Houses of Parliament, by Dorothea Francis, an atmospheric impression of the Thames when the air shimmers with the color reflections of late afternoon; and Kay Rodgers' dune scene, with its carefully-observed, yet freely-rendered, tree and cloud volumes.

Other pictures include a decorative plant subject by Henrietta Shore, Armin Hansen's sprightly Cowboy Sport, Harvey Williamson's lyrical Clouds Coming, the humorously decorative It Looks Like a Good Day by Florence True, a limpid-hued water color by Kathryn D. Aurner, Cooper Catlin's evocation of the charm of old Monterey, and William Ritschell's poetic coast scene.

Dr. Billie's Garden

By L. A. W.

Had quite an occasion out in the garden the other day. Those little fruit trees out in the orchard have grown so large they make a lot of shade. Now vegetables, none of them, will grow in shade. Well, they'll grow but the end product is puny, tough, and not very appetizing. That means I'm unable to use this space any more for vegetables. What to do?

I hunted through the books and bulletins and came out with the idea of raising more berry vines. In a few years even these will not produce because they need a good bit of bright, warm sun. But by that time I'll probably be so old and doddering that it won't make any difference anyhow. So the decision was to prepare for setting out some black raspberry, blackberry and boysenberry vines there late this winter or early in the spring. That meant getting some wire trellises built.

I had a supply of five-foot split redwood rails and had bought some 18 gauge wire and so went to it. All was going well. I had driven stakes about five feet apart and allowed for setting out the new plants every three feet. Then I had strung the wires fifteen inches apart (asunder?). But these darned things persisted in sagging and practically blowing in the wind. We sure do have wind out here on the Point.

I took my trusty hammer in hand and started to tighten the top wire with a twist or two. Fine. A little seemed good so I gave the wire another twist. Wow. The opposite end stake popped out of the ground, fell over and tangled itself in no time flat with the next stake and wires so the whole thing looked like Miss Brown's ball of yarn. I had forgotten to fasten the guy wire of that end stake. That was the real reason for the sagging wires I suppose.

That makes just one more of those lessons about gardening that I seem to have learned the hard way. I suggest that a knowledge and use of the laws of physics are as valuable to a vegetable gardener as the laws of biology and biochemistry. Better make them practical though and not merely academic.

New B. A. President Is Interested In Greater Membership

Oscar Balzer, newly elected president of the Carmel Business Association, told the Pine Cone yesterday that he was interested in encouraging 100 per cent membership. "I should like to see every business house and professional office in Carmel represented in the association." He has appointed James M. Rowe chairman of membership committee.

Elections were held at the Association's annual meeting on December 8. Walter Nielsen was named vice president and Al Fry and Arne Halle reappointed to their respective posts of secretary and treasurer. Directors chosen were Al Fry, J. O. Handley, Walter Nielsen, Oscar Balzer and Robert Spencer. Directors continuing on the board are Lloyd Weer, Mark Raggett, Ernest Morehouse, Arne Halle and John E. Abernethy. More advertising for the Carmel shops' Friday open-evening campaign was endorsed by the Association, and the proposed acquisition of the beach area south of the Carmel River mouth was explained by Gunnar Norberg.

An outstanding entertainment feature was provided by Henry Ketchum, nationally known cartoonist. He discussed mechanics and techniques both in execution and economics and made several rapid sketches by way of demonstration.

Everyone was particularly impressed by Mrs. Marian Brueck's table decorating job following the Christmas motif with considerable taste and imagination.

Helicopters' amazing ability is working for Pacific Telephone in some places today...helping stop trouble.

How a new sky patrol protects your calls

1. You really get a bird's-eye view from a hovering 'copter. And it's proving a big help in checking our Long Distance routes... Air patrols watch for leaning poles, soil erosion, settling earth... anything that might cause future trouble. They do it fast, too. In one test, a crew recently checked 276 miles of buried cable route in nine hours; it would have taken about six days by land.

3. Keeping ahead of trouble helps keep your service valuable. Today it's more valuable than ever... the many new telephones that have been rushed into service make it possible for you to call more of the people you want to call. More can call you. And your telephone is still a bargain in these days of higher costs. After all, a few pennies buy a call.

2. On-the-spot delivery of repairmen and materials is another use of the flexible helicopter. Since it can literally drop on a blanket, it comes in handy reaching isolated spots... or when snow or floods make roads hard to travel. Helicopter patrol is another example of how we keep looking ahead for the progressive developments that help keep your service always ready to work for you.

Artist's Autobiography

MONK'S ISLAND

BY A. G. WARSHAWSKY

It was this first sojourn on the Monks' Island which brought home to me how essential it was for the painter who wishes to draw his inspiration directly from nature to break, at least for periods, with the constraint of city life, though that city be Paris itself. The very fact of living in the painter's world, where movements changed from season to season like the fashion of women's gowns was bewildering to the young artist still seeking his way. For the hunted, harassed painter-in-the-making this Breton island had been a veritable sanctuary and refuge. The thought of returning here another year became so alluring that I decided, then and there, to assure myself of a suitable residence for next summer. Several delightful native cottages were available. So I arranged with the Morice family that one of them should be secured for me on the most favorable terms for another summer of painting. Apart from the inspiring surroundings and congenial milieu, the island was admirably suited for a regime of economy. Food supplies were easily obtainable and extraordinarily cheap. Eggs were sold for ten cents a baker's dozen, butter cost only two cents more a pound, while for fifty cents one could purchase a pair of plump fowls. As for fish and crustacea, they could be had practically for the asking.

Hugo Robus had written me from Munich that he planned a visit to Paris soon and I intended broaching to him the subject of sharing my island home. Besides being a valued old friend of mine, Hugo was a good hand at cooking; so, by taking turns at running our household, we would both have time for our painting.

October saw me again installed at Vernon. Its autumn charms and proximity to Paris, to say nothing of the happy memories of the Hotel Soleil d'Or, had made me a faithful habitue. Several of my comrades, to whom I had sung the praises of Vernon, joined me there—Methwen, Mathes, David Karfunkel, from New York, Billy Zorach, and Hugo Robus, lately arrived from Munich. Unfortunately in contrast to the fine, hot summer weather we had so enjoyed, the fall that year was wet and disagreeable. Billy Zorach would haunt the windows, watching for signs of a respite in the rain, and between showers would dash out, often returning with a vigorous, if hasty, sketch, exulting in "having put one over on the sun."

Karfunkel, our senior by a few years, was a very quiet person, but possessed of a keen sense of humor. His air of paternal dignity had earned for him the nickname Pap among our little crowd. In spite of the rain, he was a prodigious worker, and any lull in the bad weather would find him out of doors, attacking some huge canvas. Cloudy, stormy skies were his forte, and these he painted beautifully. As a draughtsman, I know of few contemporary Americans who can compare with him. His compositions are always distinguished and vibrant with poetry. Among the sketches and cartoons he has designed for decorations, I have seen many that are masterpieces. Yet, through some freak of fortune Karfunkel remains unrecognized, except by a few, qualified ones, and this man of great talent is often forced to commercial expedients in order to provide for himself and his little family. Under a regime of enlightened art patrons, such as the Medici, his great abilities would be employed in beautifying palaces and public buildings.

As the persistent rain made work out of doors impossible, our company turned Parisward, Mathes and Zorach returning to the United States, while Hugo Robus and I took a temporary abode in a little hotel in the Quarter. Thanks to the friendly offer of a friend of mine, Fred McKean, who occupied a large studio-apartment in

THE QUICK AND THE DEAD

*If of a winter evening with leaf-soundings at the door a ghost comes grieving an entrance to implore:
it will be me, although in essence a shadow,
come to your cabin
but not as of yore.*

*It will be me, although impassive, and come from what far wakes
to see your wine and Christmas cakes!
Yea, but not to taste
as I have done before.*

*And if your tree be interlaced with tinsel on the glass-bird's bough
I yet will marvel in my way.
Yea, even dance somehow to rain appreciation on the day though it be strangely night and I a phantom in by chance who once had come with great delight as actual and as living guest to rhyme the fiddle with the dance.*

—CHARLES R. PADDOCK.

GIFT SUGGESTIONS

*"Why not give HER a fur coat—a glamorous coat, a leopard, a caracul, a smooth shining otter,
a golden brown mink?"*

Where do you hurry old woman with heavy step and joyless eyes?

*Will you speak of years in the cotton, hands swollen and cut by the stalks—will you tell of the days when you sorted rags and the fetid smell in the lint-thick air—will you speak of the thousand steps in the office-buildings and the tiled hallways gleaming and icy at night
the hundred offices sharp with stale cigars, mahogany, magnificent,
the thundering subway and the wind-curved street?*

*"Why not give HIM a car—all-steel body, hydraulic brakes?
He'll ride cushioned with airplane-type shock absorbers to smooth rough roads."*

*He has tramped for many decades.
Dust storms have blinded him,
farm wives hastily closed protective doors.
Prison tanks held his indifferent bones on winter nights.
He remembers his home and a bed in a damp room (where you picked the green plaster clean off the wall)
the gang on the late secret street, the cops, the reform school, the blows and solitary.
He has tramped footsore from Maine to California,

—HELEN SALZ.

the Rue Boissonade, near by, I enjoyed the use of a workshop, without inconveniencing the owner, who was not a painter.

To Hugo, who was then working at the schools, I confided my project for the next summer season at Ile-aux-Moines, and found him willing to become a partner in the cottage. I have seldom met anyone in whom physical appearance and character were so closely allied, as they were in Robus. Tall, well built, with close curly blond hair, frank blue eyes, and a most willing smile, he was a sensation in the Quarter, and the girls literally fell head over heels for him. But Hugo seemed to be oblivious of the power of his charms—or possibly the memory of a girl at home to whom he had plighted his troth, acted as talisman, together with his innate modesty, which I have seldom seen equalled. In all the years I have known Hugo, I cannot recall one act of pettiness or selfishness on his part, and though many years have passed since we last met, I know he is one of those to whom time and absence makes no change and that when we do meet again, we shall be able to start just where we left off, unchanged in our affection.

While working at McKean's studio, I had the good luck to sell a large garden picture, painted at the Ile-aux-Moines, to one of Mac's American acquaintances. This unexpected windfall enabled me to set up shop for myself. In the well known studio building, at No. 9 Rue Campagne-Premiere, off the Bld. Montparnasse, known as the Rabbit Warren, I rented a tiny studio for three hundred francs a year, at that time sixty dollars. It was a primitive dwelling, lacking all so-called conveniences, such as water, gas, or electric lighting, to say nothing of the fact, that located on the cheap side of the building, it received the morning sun, instead of the desirable north light. But to compensate these drawbacks, there was an entrancing view into an old convent garden—one of those unspoiled relics of a bygone age, which still exist in unsuspected corners of Paris.

The furnishing of my new quarters was quickly accomplished. It consisted, I recall, of one deal table, serving for toilette and dining, a few chairs, a small mirror, my easel, and my flat steamer trunk, which latter, prolonged with a wooden box and covered with a thin mattress, served as a somewhat adamant couch. A small godin stove, kept the place well warmed and enabled me to do my cooking and even prepare a convivial pot a fey once a week for my friends.

Among my frequent visitors at that time was David Williams, an art student. He had been a chum of my brother Alex at the Academy in New York. Williams, who at times would work in my studio, was never quite sure that his talent for painting would take him very far. Literature was already engaging his attention ever more seriously, and later won him over completely to the profession of writing. His brother, Wythe Williams, was at that time foreign correspondent in London for an important New York newspaper. Although David spent but a short time in Paris, going over to join his brother in London, it was through my meeting with him that my later friendship with Wythe was established.

At the Dome the yearly lot of nouveaux had arrived from America. They could be easily recognized by their swagger and eccentric clothes, which were supposed to be in keeping with what a true Latin Quarterite should wear. Among the most picturesque of the new crop was Daniel Gale Turnbull. He wore a long and luxurious golden beard, and had blossomed out in the traditional rapin costume—lavalliere bow tie, wide corduroy trousers, tapering at the ankles, and an ample black cape in lieu of overcoat. He was a handsome and striking figure, and we soon became friends. Having found him a studio on the Bld. Montparnasse, I helped him to do the moving, doing my usual stunt of carrying up the stove unaided, after which Turny stood us an excellent dinner at the Cafe Dumesnil.

AAUW Section Meet

The child study section of the American Association of University Women will meet on December 19 at 8:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. W. F. Osgood, 903 Light-house Avenue, Pacific Grove, to continue its discussion on Has the Homemaker Lost Her Job.

No meeting is scheduled for the radio-listening section in December.

Reynolds' Daughters Expected

Mrs. Norman T. Reynolds has verified the good news that her daughters' families will be on hand for the Christmas holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Cohen (Betty) and their youngster are coming down from Larkspur, while Mr. and Mrs. Paul Colman (Margaret) and their three children will drive down from Palo Alto to spend a few days.

Anne Putnam Eight

The lusty young voices of fourteen of her friends assured Anne Putnam of a worthy birthday celebration Monday, when she reached the ripe old age of eight. The children gathered at the Frank Putnam's home after school to play games and eat the usual excesses of ice cream and birthday cake.

Kippy's Rushing

Kippy Stuart, who has as her guests this week Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott of Washington, D.C. is rushing like mad to prepare all the potential spring posies and tend her shrubs so that she can leave town for the Christmas holidays, her first trip in over ten years! Kippy will leave December 22 for Los Angeles, where she will be the guest of Mr. Otho Starks and will join a group of her old friends from Denver and Oklahoma City. Among those she'll see is Betty Smith, who owned the Blue Bird Tea Room during the war years.

Artist Visits Randolphs

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Randolph were visited by Mrs. Randolph's father, artist George H. Southwell and Mrs. Southwell of Victoria, B.C. The Southwells left to visit Mrs. Randolph's sister, Miss Norah Southwell in Santa Barbara but will return to Carmel in a month.

In the meantime, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph plan to go to San Francisco to spend Christmas with friends.

Partellos Return

Colonel and Mrs. J. K. Partello have returned from an extensive motor trip across the country, during which they visited in New York, Georgia, Florida and Louisiana. From the description of their trip home from Louisiana, they were so anxious to get to Carmel their wheels scarcely touched the road.

Daughter To Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morehouse are expecting a visit from their daughter, Alice, for the holidays. Alice is studying education at the College Of The Pacific.

Daughter To Visit Fords

Mrs. Roe Lindgren and her young son, Richard, will arrive soon to visit for several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Byington Ford.

Employees Honor President

The officers and employees of the Carmel and Monterey branches of the Monterey County Trust and Savings Bank gathered for a pre-Christmas breakfast party at La Ribera Hotel on December 9. Primarily in honor of the birthday of Mr. A. C. Hughes, president, who was surprised with a birthday gift, the party was also the occasion for the presentation of Christmas gift checks to the employees.

Present from Salinas were Mr. Ralph Hughes and Mr. Joseph Juri, who acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. John Abernethy, vice president of the Bank and manager of the Carmel branch, was in charge of arrangements.

Hall And Farewell

A delightful dinner party was given by Captain and Mrs. John C. Hilliard at Pine Inn last evening, the event serving to welcome home Commander and Mrs. MacKinnon Lansdowne, who recently arrived from the Philippines, and to say goodbye to Lieutenant and Mrs. Gaylord Lyons, who are leaving the Peninsula.

Hughes Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hughes will have an extra big turkey for the Christmas feast this year, when they will be joined by their three children's families. From Salinas come the Clark Alsops and their son, Clark Jr., from Santa Clara come the Joseph E. Cartys and their son, Stuart; and son Stafford Hughes, his wife and small son David, who live in Carmel, will also be present.

Bridge Series Ends

December 9 marked the completion of five evenings of duplicate bridge in the series played at the Carmel Woman's Club. The series will be resumed in January, with George Gooden as instructor.

Winners of the first series were Mr. and Mrs. George Gooden, first; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Low, second; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nuck, third; Mrs. John Withycombe and Mrs. John Cannon, fourth; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sebenius, fifth.

Evans' Pupils' Recital

Emma Evans presented her pupils in a piano recital at her studio on December 9. Those performing were Wendy Ann Burnham, David Rudolph, Mary Ann Rudolph, Mary Virginia Zanetta, Anne Marie Tanous, Peggy Dougherty, Joyce Morris, Phyllis Maiorana, Marie Lou Knapp, Gloria Cerrito and Suzanne Bestor, and advanced pupils Dorothy Mack and Tatiana Anderson.

After the recital, Dorothy Mack, pianist, and Bob Mathiesen, tenor, led in the singing of Christmas carols. Several guests stayed to hear Tatiana Anderson perform some of the compositions of her husband, Philip, including his Sonata Number One and a group of twenty little pieces called Mezzoforte, and other selections. The guests later enjoyed refreshments.

Christmas Bazaar Today

Heigh-ho, come to the Fair! Or rather, come to the Christmas Bazaar this afternoon from noon until 7 o'clock at the Pacific Grove Women's Civic Club, Grand Street near Grove (behind the Museum).

A project of the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club, the bazaar will have booths and tables selling all kinds of charming big and little items for decorating your home and trimming your Christmas tree, a grab bag of surprises, and a drawing, absolutely free, for a handsome pyracantha plant. Refreshments will be served to a background of Christmas music.

At 8 p.m. tonight in the same building, the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club will hold its annual Christmas party, for members only, with exchange of gardening gifts and holiday refreshments.

New Arrivals

Added to the many Christmas activities going on at the studio of Emma Evans, there is now a new grandson, Jeffrey John. He was born December 6, at the Peninsula Community Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Evans who are staying with Mrs. Emma Evans over the holidays. Jeffrey John has two grandmothers, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Anne Uzzell, and a brother, Matthew.

Mr. Evans is on vacation from the Hastings School in San Francisco where he is studying law, and he and his family will return after the holidays.

Captain and Mrs. Fern R. Wheatland of Carmel are celebrating the birth of their first child, a daughter, named Jennifer, who was born December 8, at the Peninsula Community Hospital.

Jennifer's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wheatland of Alhambra, California, and Mrs. Walter Dull of Carmel. This is Mrs. Dull's sixth grandchild.

Easterners In Pebble Beach

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Fairless, of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, recently enjoyed a Del Monte Lodge vacation. During their stay they were entertained by the Samuel Moses, the Alfred Castles and the William Orricks.

Peggy Glaser, Douglas School student, had a Thanksgiving visit from her parents Mr. and Mrs. James M. Glaser of Chicago. The Glasers divide the year between their Chicago and Pebble Beach homes and will make the return Chicago trip next week.

Fletchers Entertained

On Wednesday last Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Fletcher enjoyed dinner with Rollo Peters in his Monterey home. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Toulmin, and Mrs. Hayes Griffin.

Jenkins To Islands

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Jenkins are leaving by night plane on December 20 for the Hawaiian Islands, where they will spend Christmas and New Years on the Island of Maui.

Gahans Sail

Colonel and Mrs. John J. Gahan will sail on the Lurline from San Francisco on December 22 and will spend Christmas on the high seas. The Gahans, who will make their headquarters at the Willard Inn in Honolulu, plan to be in the Islands until around the first of March.

Modern plastics have taken over in the field of toys, which seems to be the answer to the high incidence of toy breakage. For example, HOLMAN'S TOY DEPARTMENT is featuring a glassware set in green or crystal, including sherberts, goblets, and a pitcher (98c). Then there are complete sets of plastic doll house furniture for every room in the miniature home. They're gay, colorful and practical. Even children's picture records are now unbreakable. Notable among these are the song and story records to delight the heart of every child, and specially priced at $1.00 for a set of four. HOLMAN'S plastic toys include a wide variety of transportation models, available in sets.

Straight out of the funny papers are Al Capp's loveable, kickable Kig-mys at 59c, 98c and $2.95. For the little commando in your home HOLMAN'S offer the 500 shot Raider Tommy Gun. However, how deadly can junior be with only water?

Sassy Duck will captivate you completely with his rolling eyes, bright yellow color and his wonderful self-winding motor which eliminates the usual frantic search for the elusive lost key ($1.49). In case you've missed HOLMAN'S TOP DEPARTMENT heretofore, you'll find it on the mezzanine of HOLMAN'S in Pacific Grove.

This is the season when m'lady will be breaking into print if the new frocks at MAXINE'S are any indication. These lush prints come in a colorful assortment of designs and styles. Some are tailored, while others are soft with a bolero type jacket or the perennial favorite two-piece. Their prices are so moderate for so much newness as well as smartness. Terrific are the shades of spring green and doe brown. Go into MAXINE'S on Dolores Street in Carmel and tempt yourself with an exciting print.

Originally scheduled to be shown in January but now being made available for Christmas are new woven straw handbags in eight unusual and fashionable styles. These PUTNAM and RAGGETT exclusives are being shown in cocoa, navy, Kelly, lipstick red, violet and ochre at $2.95. The exciting styles include shoulder, binocular, pouch and basket—ever so smart. PUTNAM and RAGGETT is located on Ocean Ave. in Carmel.

mel. They join us in reminding you only eight more shopping days until Christmas.

HOLMAN'S ANTIQUE LANE invites you to choose gifts from their interesting collection of fine antiques. You'll find unbelievable values that they have sought and found in far away places. Selected with care and judgment, their collection is noted for its charm and remarkably low prices. As an example, they have an exquisite 55 piece set of French Limoges china for a comparatively moderate price. HOLMAN'S ANTIQUE LANE is in Pacific Grove, 3rd floor.

CANDLES OF CARMEL will show you countless bright ideas for your Christmas. Among them are the Renaissance twist candles in red, green or white, made with contrasting colors on the inside. You'll also like the Star of Bethlehem, an eight point candle which burns down grooves formed by the points, in the same shades. Then there is the beautiful Madonna formed in an attitude of prayer. Its candle, which burns from behind, throws a heavenly, translucent glow. Of course there are always the scented candles and a most comprehensive line of novelty and Christmas candles. CANDLES OF CARMEL is located in the Golden Bough Court on Ocean Ave.

HOLMAN'S BOOK DEN is showing some particularly appropriate works for the Christmas season. One is the Christmas Story, a book of paintings by the great Masters of the Renaissance. The story that inspired these painters above all was the story of the Virgin and Child. This book reproduces in very large, beautifully engraved color plates the greatest of these paintings. This book with its magnificent array of color pictures, its gold end papers and sumptuous red and gold binding is unique as a Christmas gift for the whole family.

A good gift for the question and answer man in your family is the 1950 Information Please Almanac. It combines in one volume the best features of a compact encyclopedia.

HOLMAN'S BOOK DEN has a charming but inexpensive gift to be received and cherished. The Peter Pauper Press gift miniatures for only $1.00. They are beautifully boxed and the set includes the Greatest Thing In The World, The Story of the Nativity (King James and Douay versions), The Rubayait of Omar Khayyam and The Sermon on the Mount.

A new addition to HOLMAN'S BOOK DEN is California Heritage by Oscar Lewis. It presents the rich cultural and historical heritage of California in words and pictures.

A complete selection of books for children's gifts is to be had along with these other marvelous Christmas gifts. There is nothing like a book to give or receive at Christmas. HOLMAN'S BOOK DEN is in Pacific Grove.

Don't miss seeing LE GOURMET'S exciting array of delightful gifts. It is a veritable three-ring Christmas circus. One need hardly look elsewhere. There are so many

Carmel Lions Club

Final plans and decorations are all set for the Lions' Club Anniversary and Christmas dinner dance at Mission Ranch tomorrow night, when Santa Claus will appear to distribute gifts in addition to the prizes under the tree. Vincent Torras, chairman for the event, is also decorating the Christmas tree.

At the dinner meeting Tuesday evening, members enjoyed the low-down on football matters from guest speakers Dutch Fehring, assistant coach at Stanford, Leo Harris, athletic director at the University of Oregon, and Jim Aiken, head coach at Oregon. Fehring covered the intricacies of scouting rival teams, while Aiken told of the present potential championship team now in the making for Oregon. Harris spoke of his pleasure in returning to Carmel, where he was for two years superintendent of schools, and commended the Lions for their contribution of heating equipment to the High School pool, which, he stated, makes it outstanding among high schools in the U.S.

The Lions' Club Christmas theater party for Carmel children will be held at the Carmel Theater on Monday, December 26 at 10:00 a.m., with a special movie and Christmas candies for all the kids.

Christmas Play At Douglas

Parents, friends and interested onlookers will be on hand at Douglas School December 16, when the students put on their annual Christmas play. The pageant this year is under the direction of Miss Nancy Hacker and Miss Frances Louda, with music by Miss Mary Knight, properties in charge of Mrs. R. H. Winsor and Sharon Buckner, tableaux directed by Mr. G. A. Leidloff and Ann Richards and decorations by Joan Davidson and Peggy Glaser.

Pat Gillies has the role of the Queen and Brenda Gill that of the King, and the cast includes Ann Hunter, Elsie Holt, Holly Gales, Ann Richards, Stevie Myers, Gregory Bacon, Donna Crist, Gweny Guiberson, Vicki Miller, Patsy Pell, Sandra Sowell, Suzanne Hart, Margery Damner, Sharon Buckner, Helen Purney, Jill Buffum, Catherine Flynn, Ann Shoenhair, Ariel Guiberson, Terry Otterson and Gay Goffinet.

Hatlo's Tree Trimming

The Jimmy Hatlos are busier than ever this year decorating their wonderful outdoor Christmas tree, and Jimmy has Eleanor breathless in the pursuit of last-minute purchases for his creations. After the weekend and the completion of all the decorating, numerous friends will be dropping in at open house festivities to wish the Hatlos cheer over the holidays.

Camera Club Meeting

The Padre Trail Camera Club will hold its regular monthly business meeting on Saturday, December 18 in the Forest Hill Hotel, Pacific Grove, at seven thirty. Major Lynn Shields will present a moving picture of Japan.

Back From Gold Country

Miss Lucile Turner has returned from a week's vacation with her nephew, A. L. Groves and his family, on their ranch on the fringe of the '49er country, 25 miles east of Stockton. During Miss Turner's visit they made a trip to the neighboring gold towns, Murphy's and San Andreas.

Soroptimists Meet

At the Tuesday meeting of the Soroptimists Club at Casa Munras, the members were entertained by the Carmel High School choir under the direction of John Farr, an instrumental ensemble and solo selections by clarinetist Susan McCloud. The Club shared its Christmas festivities with the entertainers, serving them refreshments after the program.

Wayfarer Christmas Tea

A program of Christmas music was presented by students from Carmel High School under direction of John Farr, music teacher at the school, for the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer at the annual Christmas tea on Tuesday afternoon. The groups taking part included the high school choir and an instrumental ensemble from the orchestra.

At the conclusion of the program the young people were invited to share the refreshments of hot chocolate and cakes.

Mrs. Walter Kreisler, president, opened the meeting and presented Mrs. J. H. Drown, who read the devotions on the theme of Christ's birth. Songs for the season were sung by the members, after which Mr. Farr and his group of students were presented. Their music was greatly enjoyed by the Auxiliary members.

Tea and coffee were served at the attractive holiday table by Mrs. G. B. Henderson and Mrs. Edward Dunlap. Chairman of the tea committee was Mrs. Guy L. Kell, assisted by Mrs. Harvey Brauntun, Mrs. Hammon, Mrs. O. A. Holm, and Mrs. Kreisler.

WATER CO. RATE HEARING

As The Pine Cone went to press Thursday afternoon the public hearing on the California Water and Telephone Company's petition for an increase in rates was drawing to a close. It was expected that by 5:00 p.m. the cross examination of Water Company and Public Utilities Commission witnesses by Roy A. Wehe, attorney for Monterey County and the Three Peninsula Cities, would be completed, and the case submitted.

The hearing opened at Few Memorial Hall in Monterey Wednesday when the Water company presented its case and the Public Utilities Commission submitted its report.

City Clerk.
Date of Publication: Dec. 16, 1949

ORDINANCE NO. 103 N. S.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 1057a OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:
SECTION 1. Section 1057a of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 1057a. "Story." That portion of a building included between the upper surface of the floor next above; except that the topmost story shall be that portion of a building included between the upper surface of the topmost floor and the ceiling or roof above. If the finished floor level directly above a basement or cellar is more than five feet (5') above the surface of the ground adjacent to the exterior walls of such basement or cellar at any point, such basement or cellar shall be considered a story; provided, however, that in the case of structures erected or maintained on building sites in District C-1 or District C-2 a basement or cellar shall not be considered a story if the finished floor level directly above such basement or cellar is not more than five feet (5') above the surface of the ground adjacent to any portion of the exterior walls of such structure as may face on a public street, way, place or park."

SECTION 2: The City Clerk of said City is hereby instructed to cause this Ordinance to be published once in THE CARMEL PINE CONE, the official newspaper of said City, within fifteen (15) days after its final passage and approval.

SECTION 3. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 4. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage and approval.

CERTIFICATION OF THE CITY CLERK

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 103 N. S., which was given its first reading at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea held on the 9th day of November, 1949, and finally adopted at a regular meeting of the said Council on the 7th day of December, 1949.

I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED this 10th day of December, 1949.

Sport Notes —

PINE CONE DROPS CRUCIAL
TILT TO PACIFIC GROVE

A chance for top spot in the Winter Baseball League went aglimmering for the Giles-led Pine Cone nine Sunday when the Pacific Grove pastimers wrapped up the locals, 9 to 4. Weakened by absent players, the Coners were no match for the slants of Smokey Devlin and were soundly spanked by the league-leaders. Jack sent Jim Hale to the mound to still the potent bats of the Grove nine, but even the Hale cracking curve ball, couldn't keep the runs from crossing the dish. Infield errors at crucial times proved a tough handicap for the Coners and contributed to the PG scoring, but the steady flinging of Smokey Devlin was the big difference between the two teams. The Coners were unable to solve the whistle-slants of the Smoker and picked up only 3 blows in the nine-inning tilt.

Next Sunday, the Salinas nine will try to upset the Pacific Grove entry and tighten up the league for the other teams. Salinas has a sound ball club with plenty of power ahead and at the plate and could get the job done if they play their top game. Fort Ord and Monterey clash in the 12:30 preliminary game.

English Business Man
On Visit To Carmel

there is an emergency. The Conservative hopes rest on a possible coalition with the Liberals which is envisaged before the next election. Though Churchill's age, 75, is widely known no one is even discussed yet as potentially his successor, but the Attlee front seems an unsteady salient, precariously held in defiance of more popular or forceful personalities such as Bevin or Cripps.

Striemer says that the current American visitor to England will find no price increase, from the pound sterling point of view, over last year, and many more items on which to lavish his dollars. Natural exceptions to static price conditions are imports from dollar areas; but why visit England with an American shopping list? For the traveler bent on gastronomic adventure England makes no promises; simple adequacy was a goal laboriously attained and to make food fun, a luxury at present inconceivable.

While here the visitors were under the benign and lively aegis of Cecil "Pop" Smith whose niece, Miss Kathleen McNeal, has been designing for the Striemers some fifteen years. In England two years ago "Pop" had the satisfaction of catching up on his acquaintance with niece Kathleen as war years had put them a little out of touch. In less time than the telling, though, family familiarity was reestablished. It was, after all, only 52 years since they had met.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson - Sermon for Sunday, December 18. The Golden Text is taken from Jeremiah: "Ah Lord God! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee" (32:17).

Among the citations from the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy which will comprise the sermon are the following:

Isaiah: "For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind. But be ye glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for, behold I create Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy" (65:17, 18).

"Advancing spiritual steps in the teeming universe of Mind lead on to spiritual spheres and exalted beings. To material sense, this divine universe is dim and distant, gray in the sombre hues of twilight; but anon the veil is lifted, and the scene shifts into light" (p. 513).

This beautiful Episcopal Chapel is one of America's distinctive Churches. Men and women from many lands have found its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. Those seeking a new statement of religion are most likely to find help in its services.

The Chapel is set in a grove of the great Del Monte oaks. It is opposite the Naval School, Fremont Street, just outside Monterey.

School Board Will Call Public Meeting On New Bond Issue

signed by Thomas Elston covers an area of four and one half acres with about one third of the space allocated to the redwood stucco buildings. The basic design is for two wings of classrooms built along an elongated courtyard with paved and covered corridors running the full classroom length on either side.

A separate business and administration building faces the Fifteenth Street entrance and beyond that is the 30 by 60 "all purpose" building which will serve as theater, cafeteria, and auditorium. A small kitchen operates in conjunction with this building.

The project's special feature is the outdoor classroom which adjoins its indoor counterpart. These outdoor classrooms will be paved, fenced and planted and are to be used for every kind of outdoor educational activity throughout the year. The inside rooms, 10 in number, are glass walled on the north side with adjustable transoms for ventilation. Ceilings incline south to north, with louvered windows along the top south wall to filter the stronger light. Radiant floor heating under asphalt tiles will heat the rooms and they will be lighted, when necessary, by incandescent semi-direct fixtures. Actual floor space is estimated at 16,389 square feet without the corridors, which will be paved. The court itself, 60 feet in width, will be planted but unpaved.

Playground plans have not been fully developed but special features will include a separate and special playground for the kindergarten and a planted area between the school grounds and the Mission Ranch for nature study. There is a parents' parking area at the Fifteenth Street entrance, and a teachers' parking lot behind the Administration Building.

The decorative scheme will be simple and largely functional, with emphasis on natural, essential materials and color.

The total cost is estimated at approximately $250,000 and the project will handle about 250 students from kindergarten through the fourth grade.

SILVA MEMORIAL AWARD WINNER

Stephen Whitaker was chosen this week by the coaching staff and football players of Carmel High School as team player for the William P. Silva Memorial Football Trophy. His name will be the first placed on the plaque with the Silva painting of Carmel Mission which will be permanently on view at the High School.

Abbott Silva donated the painting as a memorial to his late father, who loved football and always followed the game with keen interest.

NO INJURIES IN BONHAM COLLISION

Mr. and Mrs. Ross E. Bonham were slightly shaken and suffered a case of badly bruised fenders last week end. After dark, and with Bonham at the wheel, they came upon a cluster of three cars stopped on Highway 1 near Molera. Car one was stalled, car two had stopped to give a hand and car three was held up by oncoming traffic. Car three's tail lights were practically invisible, Bonham says, and he was unable to pull up before he struck it.

NO CLUES IN LOCAL ROBBERY

As yet no progress is reported on the McFall jewel theft last Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. McFall, who live on the corner of Santa Lucia and Dolores streets returned home about 6:00 p.m. to find a glass door pane broken and the front door ajar. A quick search revealed that jewelry valued at $1,255 had been taken but nothing else has been discovered missing so far.

For Printing that is distinctive—Telephone 2, The Pine Cone Press.
